Division of Food and Recreational Safety

Accepting Nominations for the Produce Safety Advisory Council

Nominations are being accepted for four seats on the Produce Safety Advisory Council (PSAC). The group advises the Division of Food and Recreational Safety in establishing and achieving produce safety goals, represents constituency groups, and identifies solutions to challenges facing Wisconsin produce growers in complying with the Produce Safety Rule.

The 16-member council embodies the spectrum of Wisconsin's fresh produce industry, with members representing fruit and vegetable growers, distributors and processors, retail markets, consumer advocacy, nonprofit educational institutions, and tribal nations.

Nominations are due by June 20, 2020. The openings include seats in the fresh fruit and vegetable grower categories. Members serve two-year terms, and the council meets quarterly. The PSAC chair, in consultation with the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP), will present recommendations to the full council for review and formal approval. DATCP will send official notice of PSAC membership appointment.

Nominations should include:

- Name
- Affiliation
- Contact email and phone number
- Background, experience and/or education the nominee would bring to PSAC.
- How the nominee could communicate and share information with their represented constituency.
- Whether the nominee could attend four full-day meetings annually, and contribute time to PSAC assigned subcommittees and activities.
- Other considerations for the nominee.

Completed nominations can be email to kietra.olson@wisconsin.gov or mailed to:
