KEEP YOUR KIDS SAFE

Release Number: (#22-024) HALO Branded Solutions Inc., of Sterling, Illinois, is announcing the voluntary recall of about 82,500 projector flashlights (included as part of a care package). This recall involves five models of children’s projector flashlights: Disney, Pixar, Star Wars, Avengers and ESPN. They have a key chain on one end and a flashlight projector on the other end. The model name is imprinted on the middle of the flashlight. The flashlights are red, dark blue or light blue. They measure 3 inches long and .5 inches in diameter. The recalled flashlights were part of a Disney-branded care package that also includes a tote bag, silicone wristband, playing cards, ink pen, journal, wall decals and a set of postcards. There are four button cell batteries with model number LR41 inside the flashlight.

Problem: A child can disassemble the projector flashlight and access the button cell batteries, posing ingestion and choking hazards.

What to do: Consumers should immediately take the recalled projector flashlight away from children, stop using it, and contact Halo for a full refund and a pre-paid shipping label to return the projector flashlight. Upon return, Halo will send the consumer a $5 gift card redeemable at a major national retailer. Consumers can contact HALO toll-free at 855-425-6266 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. CT, Monday through Friday, by email at halo.safety@halo.com, or online at <https://halo.com/flashlightrecall> or <http://www.halo.com> and click on “Safety Recall” at the bottom of the page for more information.

Release Number: (#22-027) Mark of Fifth Avenue, of Harriman, N.Y., is announcing the voluntary recall of about 10,000 children’s robes. This recall involves Star Art in Linen-branded children’s 100% polyester robes. The robes were sold in six children’s sizes 2, 3-4, 5-6, 6-7, 7-8, and 10-12 in the following seven colors: black, navy, blue plaid, red plaid, red, royal blue, and gray. The long-sleeved robes have two front pockets and two side seam belt loops with a matching belt. “Made in China” and “100% Polyester” are printed on a sewn-in label in the robes seam.

Problem: The children’s robes fail to meet the federal flammability standards for children’s sleepwear, posing a risk of burn injuries to children.

What to do: Consumers should immediately take the recalled children’s robes away from children and contact Mark of Fifth Avenue. Consumers can receive a full refund of the purchase price of the garment by cutting the robes in half, taking a photo of the cut garment, and sending an email to mofaproductsafety@gmail.com with the photos. All known purchasers will be contacted. Consumers can contact Mark of Fifth Avenue email at mofaproductsafety@gmail.com or online at <https://www.markoffifthavenue.com/> and click “Recall & Safety Info” at the bottom of the web page for more information.

Release Number: (#22-029) Target Corp., of Minneapolis, Minnesota, is announcing the voluntary recall of about 174,300 letters to Santa mailbox. This recall involves the Bullseye's Playground Metal Mailbox. The mailbox was sold in red or white and measures about 7 inches in length, 3 inches in width and 10 inches in height. The words "Letters to Santa" are printed on the front of the mailbox in white or black letters. The product item number is printed on the white sticker located on the bottom of the mailbox sold in stores and on the inner packaging of the two-count mailboxes sold online. Mailboxes with the following product item numbers are included in the recall: 234-17-8556 – letters to Santa metal mailbox; red and or white and 234-20-9275 letters to Santa metal mailbox; red & white (2 count).

Problem: The mail slot on the mailbox can be sharp, posing a laceration hazard.

What to do: Consumers should immediately stop using the recalled mailbox and return it to any Target Store for a full refund in the form of a Target gift card. Consumers can also contact Target to receive a prepaid return label to return the mailbox for a full refund in the form of a Target gift card. Consumers can contact Target at 800-440-0680 from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. CT, daily or online at <https://help.target.com/help/productrecallpage> or at www.target.com and click on "Recalls" at the bottom of the page for more information. Consumers can also click the "Product Recalls" tab on Target's Facebook page for more information.

Release Number: (#22-030) Pacific Cycle Inc., of Madison, Wisconsin; Cycling Sports Group, Inc., of Wilton, Connecticut, is announcing the voluntary recall of about 11,340 Schwinn tone electric scooters (e-scooters). This recall involves all models of the Schwinn Tone Electric Scooter. That includes the Tone 1, Tone 2 and Tone 3 models. The scooters come in black or white and have a "T" handlebar and an approximately two-foot-long board. The e-scooter's serial number is located on the bottom of the board.

Problem: The e-scooter's handlebar grips can loosen or crack, posing fall and injury hazards.

What to do: Consumers should immediately stop using the recalled e-scooters and contact Pacific Cycle for a free repair kit. Consumers will need to provide the serial number of their scooter and a mailing address. The repair kit can be installed by the consumer and includes all required tools and instructions, which are also available in video format. Pacific Cycle estimates it will take consumers between five and ten minutes to install. Alternatively, consumers can ship the e-scooter back to Pacific Cycle for repair, at no cost to the consumer. Consumers can contact Pacific Cycle toll-free at 877-564-2261 from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. CT, Monday through Friday, or online at <https://www.pacific-cycle.com/safety-notice-recalls/> or www.pacific-cycle.com and click on "Safety Notices & Recalls" at the bottom of the page.

Release Number: (#22-713) Karmas Far Inc., of Ontario, Calif., is announcing the voluntary recall of about 900 infant bath seats. This recall involves Karmas Far's infant bath seats sold and marketed as a 2-in-1 or 3-in-1 booster seat for eating, bathing, and sitting up. The plastic bath seats with a removable tray were sold in the following color schemes: yellow, orange, and white. The 2-in-1 seat measures about 13 inches wide, 17 inches deep and 12 inches high. The 3-in-1 seat measures about 14 inches wide, 18 inches deep and 16 inches high.

Problem: The bath seats fail to meet the federal safety standard for infant bath seats, including requirements for stability and leg openings, and can tip over while in use, posing a drowning hazard to babies.

What to do: Consumers should immediately stop using the recalled infant bath seats and contact Karmas Far to receive a pre-paid label to return the products. Upon receipt of the products, consumers will be issued a full refund for the purchase price. Karmas Far is notifying all known purchasers directly. Consumers can contact Karmas Far collect at 909-372-6955 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. PT Monday through Friday or email at recall@karmasfar.com for more information.

Release Number: (#22-036) Longwood Forest Products of Pennsville, New Jersey, is announcing the voluntary recall of about 39,900 Angel line bunk beds with angled ladders. The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and Angel Line, of Laurel Springs, New Jersey, are announcing the recall of about 39,900 bunk beds with angled ladders due to a serious entrapment and strangulation hazards to children. A 2-year-old boy from Columbus, Ohio died in May 2018 after he was found unresponsive in a gap in the bunk bed ladder.

The metal hook fastening the ladder to the top bunk bed frame can move away or detach from the bed frame when the ladder is lifted and create a gap of more than 3.5 inches between the ladder step and bed frame. Children can get entrapped in that gap and strangle to death. A list of the three models of Angel Line Bunk Beds can be found online.

Problem: The metal hook fastening the ladder to the top bunk bed frame can move away or detach from the bed frame when the ladder is lifted, causing the gap between the ladder step and bed frame to open wider than 3.5 inches, posing serious entrapment and strangulation hazards.

What to do: Consumers should immediately stop using the recalled bunk beds, block children's access to the bunk beds and contact Angel Line to receive a free repair kit with reinforcement brackets for the ladder. Consumers who paid for the bunk beds to be assembled when purchased will receive reimbursement for help with installing the repair kit if needed. Consumers can contact Angel Line toll-free at 844-542-0694 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. PT, Monday through Friday, by email at repairkit@angelline.com or online at www.angelline.com/bunkbedrecall or www.angelline.com and click on "Product Recall" at the bottom of the page for more information.
